REC #1 HATONN

TUE., NOV. 21, 1995 6:41 A.M. YEAR 9, DAY 097

TUE., NOV. 21, 1995

We have a computer catch-22. There is a computer “filing” system which allows references to our work which separates it in some crude fashion from other resources. Many take our filing system as somehow being a “gospel” or something. We always try to identify resources to lessen confusion. For instance: the file identification of this writing is IFB11211, listed under “Hatonn” (Dharma’s computer file system), Tue., Nov. 21, 1995, 6:41 A.M., Year 9, Day 097. If there are changes, say Doris writes, or Sananda or, or, or... we try to get that recognition into the data but it is usually only identified in the body of the writing. I cannot help or change a heading after it is written and sent away to various locations for varying purposes. Dharma doesn’t know who or what will be the writer or the subject as we sit to the keyboard but there HAS TO BE A FILE FOR USE IN THE COMPUTER! I note that it is a good system for if ones wish to write to the News Desk of CONTACT, they write to Phyllis, if to the Chief Investigative Journalist, they write to Rick Martin, to the Chief Editor, Dr. Ed Young and thus and so. It seems quite acceptable to us for we are interested ONLY in the content—not the fingers who type the information. CONTACT is a NEWS PAPER; why do you ask for REVELATION? You can get all sorts of revelations from the churches or cults who offer you such leveraged and controlling power to manipulate you. Our efforts are to give you information about “what is” so that YOU can control and leverage your own participation.

Does the paper make errors? If others make errors, then of course the paper makes errors! If One Who Knows, as in this journal under Fire From The Sky makes errors—then we print errors. We do try to catch them and, always, with permission, comment. We do not take liberties with another’s writings except in commentary or question. We DO choose and pick, VERY CAREFULLY, the information we use and TRY TO IDENTIFY IT SO WE CAN FOLLOW THE AUTHORS CAREFULLY AND ESTABLISH VALIDITY OR PARTIAL FICTION—OR TOTAL FICTION.

As in the few portions of Death of Camelot by Ronn Jackson, we ran many segments. He claimed he was of the Secret Service team of the day and was privy, at some time, to details of the JFK assassination, even to the payoff of participants. That SHOULD be accurate enough as Mr. Jackson is a shrewd and cunning “hit man”. He never claimed to be anything else. “Grandma”, who we already knew quite well—had worked with him, played with him and had known him “back in the ‘good ol’ days’”. She not only claimed to KNOW him but stated on more than one occasion that he “scared her to death”. Well, they work together NOW so we assume the “scare” is over. They also seem to be working together on something to do with gold certificates of which we are now not longer informed as we were told to get our “ass from over the dash-board and get back to our job”. We obliged!

“They” killed Russell Herman(n) (Grandma’s husband) who, we have been told, worked for the government intelligence service and KNEW TOO MUCH—as well as holding a major gold certificate. Vina was infected through water contamination in an effort to try to murder her. Every serious non-plant has been in the line of fire and MANY have been murdered. To shut-up Peter Kawaja “they” murdered his wife in a most HORRIBLE way. They continue to threaten him and right now, as we write, plan to take him out while he is on an airline flight—or so go the threats. Would “they” take out a plane load of people to get him? ABSOLUTELY AND INDEED—THEY DO IT EVERY DAY! SO, READERS, PUBLICITY IS ALL YOU HAVE FOR PROTECTION WHEN IT BOILS RIGHT TO THE BOTTOM OF THE POT.

EVERY DAY LIVING

Since our people live under the threat of the sword daily, as well, what can be done? We can stop our work, capitulate to the cocks of the walk, or the people who take from our meagre coffers because nobody is daring enough to take back that which is ours and not theirs—or continue in caution to do the very best we can under the worst of circumstances. So, readers, this means you will have to put up with a few errors in grammar, spelling, file headings and impatient and frightened writers.

YOU HAVE TO COUNT ON LIVING EVERY SINGLE DAY IN A WAY YOU BELIEVE WILL MAKE YOU FEEL GOOD ABOUT YOUR LIFE—SO THAT IF IT WERE OVER TOMORROW, OR THIS AFTERNOON, YOU’D BE CONTENT WITH YOURSELF.

This means, for here and for instance, that farm equipment, service supplies, rent unpaid, loans which were directly made to “Challenge Met”, etc., are left ungathered to our needs. Nobody wants to “hurt” the takers—but the lenders seem to have no say in the matter of legal justice. So be it, for the salary you lose may well be your own. How many of YOU are hurt by the problems facing any of “ours” through the indiscretions of others? Everyone who reads CONTACT and/or any of our writings. So, “let it go”? If YOU let it go—fine. I despise your money quarrels—but ah, you come back and BLAME ME for your lack, your own drizzling away, and hold the people who do take responsibility—accountable, even if you give away assets which are another’s. So be it—let it go! Just cover the accounts in legal form so that all know exactly what happened, why, and to whom. Every cent, for instance, that funnelled through to Challenge Met, Inc., and there were THOUSANDS of dollars—are ACCOUNTED to and from the proper lenders. Why should anyone pay back loans which were intended and went directly to that Corporation for personal use?

Well, you legal people work it out for that is YOUR LINE OF RESPONSIBILITY, but the paperwork and line of flow will be continued in the accounting—right there where it has always been—right down to the pizza receipts. There are members of the FAMILY who are trying to collect their own loans from OTHERS, now that there is debate. I suggest the legal department decide what to do about those—for there are no funds in the sugar-bowl to cover them. Charles, consider bankrupting Sunshine Farms, please. There are no funds, outstanding debts left and all the equipment has been taken by the tenants of Challenge Met. I find that an interesting name to say the least. Confer with the other managers and caretakers and see if perhaps that might be the best way to go. If you have uncollectible debts in the flow-through to Challenge Met, so be it; turn it over to the court as uncollectible. This means you must write up a collection-attempted list with the police department, itemized circumstances and whatever else is necessary. “Sunshine” is insolvent? Then give it dissolution. The farm lease is not in the corporation, Sunshine Farms—so the milling operation will be secure until the lease expires.

I believe this is the only way you can live today and feel good about your responsibilities and self—tomorrow. I weary of people living as they want to and then dumping the responsibility off on others. I see no way to work it out without bringing in records and payments and conferencing with the other responsible parties in Sunshine Valley Farms.

I apologize to everyone who is tired of local problems—but this is, after all, the reason we started and continue this work—at all. We have assets (YOURS) to protect and we have to do so in the only ways we have open for our use. Our intent is to always cover privacy of each of you who participate in any way—even in the face of our adversary “takers” telling everything they know about you and your activities. It is not acceptable. And, I might add right here, that Ekkers’ problems continue because the COURTS demand information on everything remotely touched by the Ekkers—and demand open publication of everything. I can tell you now that they will give up the rest of anything—to keep YOUR PRIVACY SECURE. It is fine—they have little insight to personal transactions and have no information about corporation structures of any individuals.

Challenge Met corporation is a bit different in that personal funds were loaned through, and into, that corporation for personal use of family members. It appears that the ones from Challenge Met wish to consider everything as gifts, etc. Very well, then Challenge Met will have to account for it in order to have other businesses correct in their already established records. If you have to do honorable business with Sierra Bank, Sanwa, and Tehachapi Cement—why do people assume you have no responsibility to other corporations? I SHOULD NOT BE THE PARTY TO EXPLAIN THE WORKINGS OF CORPORATIONS. NEVER have I ever suggested that this wonderful sheltering opportunity be ill-used—NEVER!

I am told that I don’t make some people, Happy! Oh? Well, I am not in the “happiness” business. I am in the business of JOY. Joy is a step beyond “happiness”. “Happiness” is a sort of atmosphere in which you can sometimes experience if you are lucky. Joy is a light that fills you with hope and faith and love—no matter what are the circumstances.

JOY IS A STATE OF BEING. HAPPINESS IS A PASSING PHYSICAL-PERCEPTION. To suggest that “I make people happy,” is both a curse against me and a small pleasure of which I often must hold shame. You must seek and search and chase “happiness”—JOY FINDS YOU.

APPRECIATION

I want to give great appreciation to the one who has offered us the use of the contents of this journal in major portion. This writer in point offers his work as from One Who Knows. It is sufficient and we look forward to any further sharing and, when that is finished, as with others asking anonymity—we shall surely give accolades and honor for all to know. Until then, we honor every request. I do want you to realize, however, that it is often ONLY through publicity that protection is garnered. As journalists we protect our sources—PLEASE PROTECT OURS.

THE DAY OF THE LORD IS AT HAND—AND THAT MEANS THAT SO, TOO, IS THE DAY OF SATAN!

CHAPTER 1

REC #1 HATONN

THU., NOV. 9, 1995 7:36 A.M. YEAR 9, DAY 085

THU., NOV. 9, 1995

THIS MORNING

“Of all the means which wisdom uses to ensure happiness throughout the whole of life, by far the most important is the acquisition of friends.” — Epicurus

As you read these words check to see what thoughts ramble through your mind; focus for just a moment upon that which you focus upon in consciousness. I would question you, however: how and where do you look for “friends”? Do you not find friends by going about your journey and meeting others because of similarities, direction and vocation? What do you project to “acquire” friends? It is certainly easy enough to acquire acquaintances—but friends? Remember, a friend may question your motives, your tactics, your actions and even your beliefs—but he will share his while discussing yours and HEARING you. He will not, if countered, go forth and “getcha” because you refuse to tolerate abuse and damage. You do not have to “agree” on all points to be friends, but only until informed can this hold true for you will not long tolerate those who do not believe somewhat as you do and have similar GOALS. Actions will always be acceptable or you will realize you are NOT, at all, friends.

There was a crude joke told on a prize-winning TV show last evening that I witnessed. It was a Jewish comedian whose types of jokes ranged from something about pregnancy tests for the Virgin Mary to other demeaning comments about Christianity (if a White Christian made such terrible comments about Jews you would be tossed into the fire-pit of their holocausting flamethrowers). Then there were some about Farrakhan and then 60 Minutes and Colin Powell—but an interesting observation was “Politics and other games make for strange bedfellows—where the ones not in bed get screwed.” Crass? I guess not for this was not bleeped out and half of the other words were and there were so many that there was no program left. This same comedian did a whole hour on breasts one evening and if this same talk were presented by others—they would be hanged. He never referred to the breasts by that name—but simply as “tits”. Yes indeed, America and World, YOU HAVE COME A LONG WAY—INTO THE TRASH HEAP. And how is it explained away, the brash, crude and vulgar channel of garbage? “Oh, but it is adult entertainment and parents should control what their children watch”—during prime time!!! Entertainment? ADULT? YOU ARE GETTING EXACTLY WHAT YOU DESERVE, FELLOW TRAVELERS.

COLLOIDS

So, “this morning” we sit to write and the first thing we encounter on the “respond to” stack is an attack on colloidal silver from no less than Joyce Riley who CLAIMS to serve the Gulf War veterans suffering from Gulf War Illness (GWI). It seems her comments were that she had concerns regarding New Gaia and colloidal silver. If she has concerns then she knows NOTHING about the subject and this is the second turn-about by this unfortunate lady, on the subject WHEREIN SHE SHOWS HER TOTAL IGNORANCE. Further, she shows that her intents are NOT in behalf of any Gulf War veterans but serves, in ignorance or intent, the government of the Royal Hood—you know, the ones with utmost “hoodspa” (spell it any way you like). By her association with GWI, and claiming to suffer from THE illness, Rick sent her products worth hundreds of dollars (perhaps that was THE error). She DID NOT use them correctly, if at all, stopped the use, then denied they did anything and, now, proves her point by one example—WHICH DID NOT HAPPEN. Be wary, people, of do-gooders who rip-off their “partners” as she has done to Peter Kawaja.

To begin with I will just present Rick Martin’s communique:

“In a conversation with Joyce Riley this morning, she made some comments about her concerns regarding New Gaia and colloidal silver. She mentioned that she had a very sick Gulf War veteran who, under the supervision of a naturopathic doctor, was taking colloidal silver. He went into renal failure and turned grey. The doctor took him off of the colloids because his kidneys were simply not strong enough to process the heavy metal. She expressed her concerns that exact dosages are unknown in this particular area of treatment and many of the very sick vets have weak kidneys.”—Rick.

Fine, and she is totally uninformed and is suffering from “weak brain” syndrome. How can anyone with so little knowledge head anything as urgently in focus as the Gulf War veterans who are dying all over the map, along with their families.

It is true that you don’t need to overload kidneys and livers with anything. However, if the gold and silver STAY IN COLLOID YOU CANNOT OVERLOAD ANYTHING. Neither I nor she, apparently, knows anything (or she does not share it) about what she is talking, like who made this “colloid”, for it certainly did not come from here or any reputable source—if indeed it caused ANY adverse reaction—PERIOD. It sounds to me like a full intent to damage the reputation of something that can SAVE LIVES when the point is to kill off people and remain the center of some sick attention. Joyce Riley works WITH the government and has tried to get Peter to join her so that they can be secure in the helping of one another. So, please go back and re-read the joke in paragraph No. 3 (above).

Does this mean that I am not fully in attune with Joyce Riley? I don’t know Joyce Riley nor am I likely to ever become a favorite “friend” of hers. She is apparently doing more to prevent the members of the Gulf War Club, seeking help, from getting help, of anyone I see in the present landscape. I weary of our “mother figures” going forth and presenting BIG Boy GAMES. I will tell you readers this much, right now: Women who come forward and shrewdly take control of something like this, which herds men around like cattle, and give great input to their destiny—are problem material if attitudes are wrong. I feel the same way about men running female business. Families are being lost to these diseases and yet women take up “arms” and go to war in the name of.... No, they don’t, they make idiots of themselves marching to Washington with their guns and bangles.

I want you to pay attention to something going on in your Congressional debates these very days: the attempt to shut down late-term abortions BY MEANS OF PULLING APART THE BABIES, PULLING THEM OUT OF THE BIRTH CANAL ENOUGH TO STAB THE BABY IN THE NECK AT THE BASE OF THE SKULL WITH SCISSORS AND ASPIRATING ITS BRAIN OUT FOR USE

AS INJECTIONS FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE SUFFERING FROM VARIOUS MENTAL AILMENTS.

Guess what, the men are against such horror but, AH, your female homosexual Congress “ladies” are in favor of using the “death” for something “productive”. When the MOTHERS of your nations become THIS, it is unfortunate for the human race. By the way, in a late term pregnancy termination of this type—usually arms and/or legs are pulled off the little body in the procedure. How does that make your old joints feel? You are base and atrocious in your FREEDOM OF CHOICE(s). If you are FOR such murder and torture—then you are as guilty as the one who actually does this “procedure”. I remind you, however, that this IS THE SAME INTENT that belongs to Satanic SACRIFICE groups who will skin a person alive and breed babies to be “sacrificed”. Big damned deal—15 pot-bellied men and stuporous women holding down a wee infant while it is peeled and murdered!! Indeed you have come a long way, World.

I will say that I, too, am appalled by what is being produced and called “colloidal silver”. You can get everything from nothing to dyed water or mica flakes. And, worse, there is NOTHING which prevents tampering with the “real thing”. When you have the mentality of putting poison in Tylenol capsules—you have some sick members of society. Colloidalize ANYTHING incorrectly and you get “grounded” fallout of clumped elements.

I am also amused by the description of someone turning “grey”. Have any of you ever looked at a person with serious kidney problems—from any cause? There is a grey color which is so typical as to be a causal sign for diagnoses—just as liver damage presents with yellow sclera (eye whites). Renal (kidney) shut-down is a typical sign of organ damage in Gulf War Syndrome with build-up of UREA. But now there is blame of a harmless solution and leaders of “the movement” have to “concern” about all such products. Has anyone heard, at best, that some people have allergic reactions to antibiotics? Well, you won’t have an allergic reaction to these colloids! Any INFORMED person would not even suggest such a silly thing. You won’t have any reaction to properly prepared silver or gold colloids—except perchance—GET WELL, Government forbid!

I am given a rebuttal of “but she says she suggests people read CONTACT”. So, and how many subscriptions have you gotten through that resource? I thought not. People who use others to further their own gain are not your buddy, good buddies. When that list of GWI contacts is handed over to Peter Kawaja so something can be done for them—then, and ONLY then, will I consider her intent to be worthy of the position in which she places herself. She has sold Peter’s tapes, his lectures, his work—for herself. She has tried to alienate him from his REAL co-workers and this is unseemly at best. If her intentions are good, she is going about actions quite incorrectly and, as with Linda Thompson, to later say, “oops, I didn’t mean it really—I just wanted to get people’s attention and awaken them.” Well “Generals”, it leaves me as cold as “oops, we only meant to kill THE Teacher a little bit!” And, yep, every one of the disciples went to sleep AFTER the Teacher asked them to stand watch with him. Oh well!!!

MAN-KILLING MICROBES

OK, let us shift attention along these same lines but offer an interesting article from, of all things, [LONDON] FINANCIAL TIMES, Weekend, October 28/29, 1995:

[QUOTING:]

RETURN OF THE MAN-KILLING MICROBES

Bacteria are on the point of overthrowing antibiotics, reports James LeFanu.

In 1967 William Stewart, the US Surgeon General, told a White House meeting: “The time has come to close the book on infectious diseases.” At the time it certainly seemed he was right. Social progress and medical ingenuity had thrown an apparently unscalable wall around the human species to protect it from its oldest foes.

The miracle of antibiotics had emptied the hospital wards which 20 years earlier had been filled to overflowing with children dying of pneumonia, meningitis and typhoid. [H: Not to even mention adults.] The extraordinary thing in retrospect was how rapidly the final victory had come—vindication, if any were needed, of the limitless power of modern medicine.

Sweet victory indeed, but, as it has turned out, pure hubris. Within 20 years, bacteria and the infectious diseases they cause have bounded right back up the medical agenda and into the public consciousness. Microbes have turned out to be much more resilient than anyone could have imagined: capable, in a myriad of different ways, of defending themselves against the antibiotic onslaught.

The implications were spelled out by microbiologist Alexander Tomasz of New York’s Rockefeller University at last year’s conference of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The scale of bacterial resistance to antibiotics was, he said, “a medical disaster that will return physicians to the days before penicillin, when the most trivial of infections could turn lethal for lack of effective drugs”.

The problem is especially apparent in hospitals—particularly intensive care units which are happy breeding ground for bacteria. The Journal of the American Medical Association recently reported a survey of 10,000 patients in 1,500 hospitals across Europe which found that not only were half of them on antibiotic treatment for infections they had acquired in hospital, but that in two-thirds of these the causal organism was resistant to several different antibiotics.

The rapid resurgence of the threat of infectious disease has been blamed on doctors themselves, who, it is claimed, irresponsibly dish out antibiotics like sweets, often for minor illnesses, without bothering to identify which bacteria—if any—are responsible and whether they are sensitive to the drug being prescribed.

This certainly does happen but the real story behind bacterial resistance to antibiotics touches on more profound issues. Bacteria, it now appears, have an extraordinary facility to adapt genetically to external threats. This not only guarantees their own survival but is also, paradoxically, indispensable for the survival of all living organisms. [H: Well, unless tampered with by MAN, they do not conveniently adapt to colloidal silver with/and/or gold, and to think otherwise is hogwash. Will there come a day when this does not hold true? Probably, but you’re not there yet.]

Consider the bacterium staphylococcus, which both opens and closes the all too brief historical period when doctors believed they had triumphed over infectious disease.

In February 1941, Police Constable Albert Alexander was desperately ill in Oxford's Radcliffe Infirmary. Two months previously a small sore caused by staphylococcus had developed on the side of his mouth. It had spread rapidly and relentlessly to his face and scalp, destroying his left eye which had had to be surgically removed.

The infection had now spread to the right shoulder and an X-ray of his chest revealed multiple abscesses in the lungs. [H: Ah, for a bit of OxySol to the pimple and some of the Gaia lotion!] PC Alexander was the first human to receive penicillin—a tiny dose of 200 mg, given as one injection into his buttock. Within 24 hours, he was clearly getting better. His temperature came down and the suppurating skin infection began to heal.

But the quantity of penicillin available was so limited that despite the diligence of his doctors in extracting minute quantities of the precious substance from his urine and reinjecting it back into the blood stream, the staphylococcus regained the upper hand and a month later PC Alexander was dead. But his partial response to penicillin perfectly symbolized the crucial transitional moment between man's susceptibility to the power of bacteria and his ability to defeat them.

Penicillin soon became available in sufficient quantities and it saved many lives in the closing years of the war, but within only three years the staphylococcus had fought back.

A mutation emerged which produced an enzyme, penicillinase, that dissolved the chemical structure of penicillin, rendering it useless.

In response, the drug industry came up with a semi-synthetic penicillin, methicillin. But a new generation of staphylococcus became resistant to that, along with eight other commonly used antibiotics. Then came the fluoroquinolones and the aminoglycosides. Yet again staphylococcus fought back. [H: Do you suppose Ms. Riley is “concerned” about these as well? No one seems to get concerned about the priests in the medical association who give poisons which build resistance (of the invader) but concern over that which is harmless—except to the invaders!]

Hundreds of antibiotic compounds have been developed over the past 50 years but there are now strains of staphylococcus which are resistant to all but one—vancomycin. [H: ALERT! THESE STRAINS ARE ALSO NOW RESISTANT TO IT AS WELL!] When, as seems inevitable, a strain of staphylococcus becomes resistant to this as well, the post-antibiotic era will have arrived—unless a new cure is found in time. [H: Well, readers, here you ARE.]

Central to the struggle for supremacy between staphylococcus and the drugs industry—so similar to the arms race of the cold war—is the enormous repertoire of defences that bacteria can draw on. As well as producing penicillinase, staphylococcus can alter the shape of the protein by which other penicillins bind to the bacterium's cell wall. They inhibit the attack of the fluoroquinolones on their DNA, secrete immobilizing enzymes against chloramphenicol, and dispose of tetracycline by literally pumping it out.

These defense mechanisms are not unique to staphylococcus. They have also been encountered in each of the hundreds of species of bacterial pathogens. How do they do it?

According to evolutionary theory, random changes in the staphylococcal genes produce—by chance—a mutant capable of, for example, secreting the enzyme penicillinase and this gives it a competitive advantage which allows it to survive and prosper. But as George Griffin, professor of Microbiology at St. George's Medical School, points out, such spontaneous genetic mutation is "a relatively infrequent event. It might happen once, but the chances of the staphylococcus becoming resistant to two antibiotics in the same way are somewhere between a million and a hundred million times less likely.

"The chance of random mutation generating resistance to still more antibiotics is essentially zero. So clearly bacterial genes must have mechanisms—not found in other organisms—by which they can actively, almost purposefully, mutate to protect themselves from hostile chemicals in the environment." [H: Now, would anyone like to tell me how the same strain of staphylococci in upper Slobovia can simultaneously mutate in Southern California? It's a small world after all, perchance?]

If the chances of staphylococcus becoming resistant to several antibiotics by random genetic mutation are vanishingly small, the chances of all bacterial species doing the same thing is so improbable as not to be worth considering. The only way this could happen would be if bacteria could somehow transmit their genes for resistance between each other.

Theoretically this should not happen, as they are non-sexual, reproducing by self division. Yet, as Japanese scientist Dr. Kunitaro Ochi discovered, not only is resistance transmitted within a species, it is transmitted between species. This is unique to bacteria.

In a classic experiment, Ochi cultured strains of the bacterium Escherichia coli which were resistant to the antibiotics sulfanilamide, streptomycin, chloramphenicol and tetracycline with strains of Shigella dysenteria which were sensitive to the four drugs and produced strains of Shigella with the same pattern of resistance as the E. coli.

Bacteria, it is now known, contain a form of DNA, called plasmid, which is quite separate from their chromosomes and carries both the genes for resistance and those that permit bacteria to conjugate with others. So in Ochi's experiment the E. coli plasmids not only encouraged fusion with the shigella, but passed into it, conferring—at a stroke—resistance to several antibiotics. [H: I see that I have erred in not going on with your lesson on "genes". I can only hope you get enough information out of this article to allow you to somewhat understand the genetic capabilities even at the primitive level of microbes. I simply can't get to all the education necessary, friends, so bear with us and, please, do your homework for the life you save will be your own, and of those you love.]

Microbes thus break two fundamental rules of genetics: they do not depend on random mutation of genes to adapt to a changing environment and are able to transmit genetic information between species.

Together these observations challenge the central concept of all modern biology: that there is an evolutionary hierarchy which starts with the simple single-celled microbes on the bottom rung, from which all other living things have evolved.

The problem that has become increasingly obvious in the past decade is that microbes are not simple at all. Their genetic adaptability is much superior to that of any other form of life and seems not to have evolved by chance. Further, their willingness to share their defences with other species of microbes suggests they are not solitary organisms but share a common purpose. Indeed, as British microbiologist, Bernard Dixon, argues in his book Power Unseen: How Microbes see the World, the genetic adaptability of microorganisms is the single most important phenomenon in the whole of biology, for on it depends the existence of every other form of life on earth.

In the cycle of growth and decay, growth would not be possible if decay was not eliminated. According to Dixon, bacteria “make a major contribution to global cleansing, attacking the waste that arrives in an unceasing stream of sewage disposal plants, rendering it safe and innocuous.”

Bacteria can adapt to incredibly hostile environments. They can be found in the heart of a bubbling volcano and buried deep in a glacier, in a jar of distilled water and in the formaldehyde used to preserve anatomical specimens. [H: Remember the one we told you about that lives in the heart of a nuclear reactor?]

It is only incidentally that they cause disease: when they encountered a human host, the Mycobacterium tuberculosis, adapted to survive in the lungs and bones, the staphylococcus adapted to live in the skin, and the gonococcus adapted to flourish in the genital tract. So their apparent malevolence and their ability to become resistant to antibiotics are both inevitable corollaries of their primary function—to sustain life on earth.

Put like this, the medical disaster predicted by Tomasz seems equally inevitable. A strain of the gut bacterium enterococcus, prevalent in intensive-care units, is now resistant to all known antibiotics including the “last ditch” vancomycin. Enterococcus is itself fairly harmless—except in the elderly and debilitated—but it is only a matter of time before its vancomycin-resistant gene jumps ship to the staphylococcus. People infected by this super-staphylococcus will be no more treatable than in the days before PC Alexander received his first shot of penicillin.

For the immediate future the problem of antibiotic resistance will remain confined to hospitals where it can be kept largely under control by rigorous infectious disease control. But in the growing cities of the developing world, where sanitation and housing is poor and antibiotic prescribing practices uncontrollably lax, it can only be a matter of time before there is a serious outbreak of untreatable infectious diseases.

The saga of microbes’ resistance to antibiotics demonstrates how little scientists really understand of the forces of change and adaptation in the natural world. What we can now understand is why microbes have been around for 3,500 million years and will probably still be around long after we have gone.

Microbes, not macrobes, rule the world. What hubris to have believed they could be defeated or that the book on infectious diseases could ever be closed.

[END OF QUOTING]

And so it goes, as well, with insecticides. It becomes more and more apparent that the well-intended insecticides have produced a major resistance in strains of insects—in fact, all known life-forms have become resistant, except ONE—human, AND those things you would least like to kill.

Dear ones, it can only be a matter of time before there is an outbreak of untreatable infectious disease and all I can do is tell you, offer that which might well help you through it and make suggestions. The actions and choices are up to you for I have no intention of even “trying” to fix a world which doesn’t give a damn, or the life-forms on it.

Yes we do have the things which can help you, but I am not going to hold you down and pour them down your gullets. We offer them as inexpensively as is possible and it is simply that YOU will decide that which is useful to you and I suggest that no more packages be sent as was sent for the use of one Joyce Riley. These people simply slow or stop progress with their assumed authority and we don’t want to butt into anyone’s “druthers” or “concerns”. Stop trying to make Gaia products into some kind of medicine or drug—you will find NEITHER here. Cures and HEALING are a thing of individual focus—all else are but TOOLS. Unfortunately, that holds true for those “practicing” at medicine in the clubs of the associations. And you thought you lived in a free nation? Perish the thought if it slipped up on you!

ALERT

I have been handed a notice which I would like to share with you and hope that our friends will put it on the “hot-line” and run a notice in the upcoming paper, please.

From Ronn Jackson:

Nov. 9, 1995

The new numbers for our FAX network are:

Phone: 505: 445-9853

FAX: 505: 445-9975

I’m sorry that I do not know what they call this FAX network but we have to assume it to be connected to the NEWREPUBLIC since that is the area, geographically, where the work is due to be centered.

The address is: Ronn Jackson, P.O. Box 71, Raton, New Mexico 87740. No, we do not know if this is the actual location of Mr. Jackson for he has not given us change of address notification from Pahrump, Nevada.

Readers, Ronn Jackson HAS A JOB TO DO and we certainly pray that he can do it. However, be aware that you know not the contract, with God, of ANY OTHER, and most of you don’t even know the contract of yourself and God. Can we not allow a person to prove himself? God always allows YOU to prove yourself! If you do foolish things, is that the fault of “another”? Ponder it. And, no, we have not yet seen abundance in our project funding but remember that God’s delays are not HIS denials and never underestimate God’s mysteries in His performance of HIS miracles and wonders.

And, may wonders never cease for thee or me!

Salu.

CHAPTER 2

REC #1 HATONN

FRI., NOV. 10, 1995 9:53 A.M. YEAR 9, DAY 086

FRI., NOV. 10, 1995

RICHARD SNELL

I want to first bring back to memory, Richard Snell, who was executed in Arkansas. You readers became very close to Richard's wife, Mary, as efforts were made to bring forth truth and stop the carnage of citizens who disclose the criminal acts of Government and Politicians. This, however, is not the topic in point.

Remember, please, that back in those days Richard, and then we, ran a series of articles on FIRE FROM THE SKY which consisted of at least part one and two of the work of ONE WHO KNOWS. [FIRE FROM THE SKY was presented starting in the 1/3/95 issue of CONTACT on p. 28 and continued in the next 2 consecutive issues.]

With patience and without pushing rivers we receive and we have now received parts III and IV [We will continue with our own internal numbering system in order to keep things straight, we left off in January with part 14—thus part 15 is next]. It has come a long way around the bend to reach us but a friend, through Mary Snell, has forwarded it on to us, along with a lot of questions from an inquiring mind and, for that matter, some from the last in line who got it to us. His major question up front was that I had suggested in Space-Gate [Journal #3] that “some asteroids are space ships”. I very likely made such a statement but I think that the perception received might well be that which I did not intend. My intention was to say that some asteroids PERCEIVED to be asteroids—are not, they are craft. If there is no difference in the statements, I apologize, but asteroids and space ships are NOT the same. He further states that I stated that “you do not understand what comets and asteroids ARE...” and his statement then is, “How can we understand, when our teachers lie to us and deceive us?”

I understand the frustration and I am as lost as any being at getting you or anyone to fully understand that which is confusing at best. To go back to the basics, the foundation of inability to “understand” stems from the very fact that ALL is but holographic manifestation and thought form—first God's and then, collectively, soul. Further than this and as regards the Hale-Bopp Comet (Doomsday Comet) I am not going to get into such a deep subject when my whole staff is buried in trying to get you informed about microbiology and saving that skin within which you run about and WITHIN WHICH YOU HAVE TO REMAIN MORTAL. You are coming around to the window of passage of Nibiru and again will find opportunity for those which on your place are called Anunnaki/Nefilim to “come aboard”. Many are already within your “place”. A lot of “Crop Circles” are feeding information to the ones who “know” and it is all part of God's Plan 2000 (or there-about), Photon Belts and other integration. You of Earth human lineage are an-censored by Space beings and about every 3,250-3,300 years (account for error) WE COME AROUND. This is not mysticism—it is fact.

I asked all of you inquiring minds to follow up on Scallion's newsletter and I hope that you did so as he has information about the "Ethereans" (who, by the way, are in large colonies under the Philippines) and reference is directed to Pleiades and Sirius.

I would, however, caution you about locking onto a "collective" consciousness aspect of visitors. Why? Because a "collective" ANYTHING can mislead you easily. Require that any "speakers" or "visitors" identify themselves INDIVIDUALLY for there are MORE nasty adversaries abounding in the Etheric Astral Plane than there are of US—JUST WAITING TO BREAK THROUGH WITH MIS-, DIS-INFORMATION.

I personally do not distract into those lessons if I don't have to because my mission is so "physical" in requirements and I have covered those things in many volumes of the Phoenix journals. I have no time for repetition. I even have to leave it to the discretion of the CONTACT Editors whether or not they want to run (re-run) Fire From The Sky. We have so little time or space allowances that costs and work hours have to be considered. I would like to see us be able, if desired, to print a book by this label at some time to give One Who Knows and Mary Snell some bit of income. We have to work through as appropriate.

You are being readied by your political misdirectors to accept whatever they bring to you as to information. I do not even quarrel that the presentations are not viable in "form". Be careful and do not be gullible. Remember, the Hubble Telescope original resides in White Sands and yet you are told that the "flawed Hubble scope has photographed stars being born" and the vapor cloud seems to have "faces" within it which are the Christ, etc. Is this shades of Blue Beam Operation or possibly GOD sending His messages?? USE YOUR REASON AND BRAINS—FOR IT IS THE "TIME" FOR EITHER OR BOTH!

THIS is the main reason I want to offer you the next editions of Fire From The Sky.

Since this author requires silence and anonymity we will simply dive right off into:

[QUOTING:]

FIRE FROM THE SKY, PART III

by "One Who Knows"

FORWARD

by the Author

Many who read "Fire From The Sky" were shocked at the story. Some have said "I don't believe it" or "It can't be!"

It is true, whether you believe it or not. For those of you who want to better understand, I will try to share with you some of the things I have learned. I will reveal here some more things that "our" government wants to keep TOP SECRET.

The FIRE FROM THE SKY material told of anti-gravity Cosmospheres, invisible ships, and other "far out" stuff such as "Psychoenergetic Range Finding". "Psycho" is right, you may think.

Before you make judgments about something about which you know nothing, why not try to learn more about it?

This material is for those of you who wish to research and learn more about the subject.

THE MARVEL OF EMPTY SPACE

Many top scientists are recently talking about “Universes” coming into existence out of “nothing” and such. How can this be, isn’t this thinking a form of insanity?

Those of you who completed your brainwashing classes (I believe you called them college and university courses) a few years ago, may not be aware that the top scientists are now discussing about things coming into existence out of nothing, etc.

Science News, Feb. 18, 1995, in an article called “Making universes, constants out of nothing” (p. 102) says, “Quantum cosmology posits that incredibly tiny universes spontaneously nucleate out of nothing.” Weren’t we taught that such was impossible? Weren’t we taught that “spontaneous generation” is along the line of “old-wives’ tales”?

If you stop and think, you will realize that the material universe had to come into existence out of “nothing”, or else it had to have existed forever with no beginning. If you check current literature, you will find much discussion among top physicists, mathematicians, etc., about these questions.

For an example, read “Nothing’s plenty: The vacuum in modern quantum field theory” by I.J.R. Aitchison, Contemporary Physics, 26(4), 1985, pp. 887-894.

Or see Yu. G. Ignat’ev, “Relativistic kinetics of an anisotropic plasmalike medium with damping in the field of gravitational radiation,” Soviet Physics Journal, 27(12). Dec. 1984, (English translation: Plenum, June 1985), pp. 1066-1069. The article is about producing energy from a vacuum.

Michio Kaku, author of Hyperspace, A Scientific Odyssey Through Parallel Universes, Time Warps, and the 10th Dimension, speaks of empty space “bubbling” and the universe coming into existence from these “bubbles”.

Fritjof Capra, in The Tao of Physics, (Bantam Paperbacks, p. 208), says:

The distinction between matter and empty space finally had to be abandoned when it became evident that virtual particles can come into being spontaneously out of the void, and vanish again into the void, without any nucleon or other strongly interacting particle being present... the vacuum is far from empty. On the contrary, it contains an unlimited number of particles which come into being and vanish without end.

Here then, is the closest parallel to the Void of Eastern mysticism in modern physics. Like the Eastern Void, the “physical vacuum”—as it is called in field theory—is not a state of mere nothingness, but contains the potentiality for all forms of the particle world. These forms, in turn, are not independent physical entities, but merely transient manifestations of the underlying Void. As the sutra says, “Form is emptiness, and emptiness is indeed form.”

The relation between the virtual particles and the vacuum is an essentially dynamic relation; the vacuum is truly a “living Void”, pulsating in endless rhythms of creation and destruction. The discovery of the dynamic quality of the vacuum is seen by many physicists as one of the most important findings of modern physics. From the role as an empty container of the physical phenomena, the void has emerged as a dynamic quantity of utmost importance. The results of modern physics thus seem to confirm the words of the Chinese sage Chang Tsai: “When one knows that the Great Void is full of Ch'i, one realizes that there is no such thing as nothingness.”

This science of applying the physics of creating “something” out of “nothing” is variously called “energetics”, “Psychoenergetics”, “scalar electromagnetics”, “orgone energy”, “radionics”, etc.

Air & Space Magazine, June/July 1995, in the article by Frank Kuznik (P. 70) about making a vacuum, starts:

Can something ever come of nothing? Alex Ignatiev fervently hopes so. Ignatiev, a University of Houston physics and chemistry professor, is scribbling equations for that very process on a board in his cluttered campus office.

Fer-De-Lance, by Col. T.E. Bearden, p. 106, #60, says:

Interactions which occurred between Khrushchev and renowned physicist and Nobelian P. Kapitsa are of interest. Khrushchev desired absolute defense of the Soviet Union so that the Soviets might be able to launch any action desired without risk of serious concern. Kapitsa informed the Soviet leader that, if a means of total neutralization of foreign missiles was to be found, it could only come from a group of new principles in physics which was called “Energetics”. The term “energetics”, of course, was contracted from “psychoenergetics”, and is essentially the expanded physics/electromagnetics that this author [Bearden] has dubbed, scalar electromagnetics.

Now you know what “psychoenergetics” in the Fire From The Sky document is the same as what T.E. Bearden calls “scalar electromagnetics” and the Russians call “energetics”. (The Russian rocket that supplies their Mir (Russian for “World”) Space Station is called “Energia”.) Bearden has had a considerable amount of writings published on the subject. For a list of his books, contact the Tesla Book Company, P.O. Box 121873, Chula Vista, CA 91912. To further track this information, take note of the following:

So about 1950 or so, the Soviet Union would have started phenomenology experimentation in earnest, with phase conjugate radar mirrors and phase conjugate radars. This is what was referred to as energetics. The Soviets began a massive program in energetics about the time of the beginning of the Korean War (p. 86, Aids, Biological Warfare by T.E. Bearden).

Building upon Whittaker’s important work, I formulated a conceptual revision to electromagnetics, which I dubbed scalar electromagnetics to accent that the observable EM vector force fields did not exist as such in a vacuum, but dynamic scalar fields did [“vacuum” is NOT “empty”]. I also wished to call strong attention to the fact that observable force does not exist until an observable particle of mass is coupled to the interference of the two scalar fields (much like in the Aharonov-Bohm effect). The Soviets, of course, call this area energetics. Energetics technology has been used in gigantic weapons programs of the Soviet Union for decades, and it appears to be developed under the most highly classified program that the Soviets possess. All development and deployment of energetics weapons is under the KGB and controlled directly by that organization, not by the Soviet Armed Forces (p. 88, Aids, Biological Warfare).

P. 89 says scalar electromagnetics “allowed the direct engineering of the unified field theory, including structuring the vacuum, curving local spacetime, and producing effects at a distance [like shooting down aircraft] and in higher dimensions.” [H: Dharma, this fits right into Paul’s theory of Dimensional Life, and minus zeroith recognition of “nothing” is not nothing nor is zero nothing. All is only different and, furthermore, a change of dimension is a simple concept for allowing understanding.]

Please take special note of the above key identification terms “phase conjugate mirrors”, as this helps us to identify this subject in other literature! At this point you do not need to understand what it is talking about, just remember the term.

ZERO IS NOT NOTHING

We think of vacuum as zero, nothing, empty, nada, nichts, zilch. If we have 7 rocks and we take away 7 rocks, then we have no rocks, zero rocks.

Later we learn that this is not always so. If we have 7 pieces of matter and 7 pieces of anti-matter, when combined we have zero, although we actually have 14 pieces. You may say that they cancelled-out each other and you now have nothing. Think of what you are saying. Are you saying that 14 things can be combined and cease to exist and become nothing? Then isn’t it conversely possible that “nothing” can yield or be divided into 14 “real” “things”?

In algebra we add seven plus-ones to seven minus-ones and get a sum total of zero, again in spite of the fact that there are actually 14 numbers.

Bearden states it as: “Although zero is the absence of just a single thing, it can be the presence of multiple things” (p. 98, AIDS).

You already know that “empty space” is not to empty—it contains radio waves, radar waves, gravity, cosmic rays, etc. Even when these are removed, Bearden and others point out that what we think of as “empty space” actually consists of an incredible amount of positive and negative forces that cancel each other out and sum to zero, thus appearing to be “not there”. By “curving space” and such, some forces become “out of balance” and the result is light, or gravity, etc. Normally this is expressed as positive gravity, but under the right conditions, the gravitation force is reversed. This is called anti-gravity. And,
